THIRD PARTY CALLS FOR A "REAL PEACE"

Convention Hears Wallace-Stalin Proposals Urged by Chairman.

By The Associated Press

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 24—The new Progressive party convention met today to nominate Henry A. Wallace for president—heard its chairman call today for a "real peace" arranged by Wallace and Stalin.

Albert J. Fitzgerald of Lynn, Mass., was chosen as permanent chairman. He told the delegates that if the party can win control of congress the producers of the country will enforce peace.

"The peace that such a congress would forge would be a real peace based on the give and take which Henry Wallace and Josef Stalin exchanged, he declared, adding:

"It can be done it must be done."

He alluded to an offer by Soviet Premier Stalin to negotiate differences with the United States on the basis of proposals made last May in an open letter by Wallace.

Fitzgerald Presides

Fitzgerald, head of the CIO-united electrical, radio and machine workers union, took over the convention gavel at a forenoon session called for routine business.

The formal nominations of Wallace and his running mate, Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, were to come later in the day. Tonight, the candidates will make their acceptance speeches at Shibe park, Philadelphia's major league baseball stadium.

Fitzgerald assailed President Truman as "Injunction Harry" because of Mr. Truman's activities in the coal and rail strikes.

Next, Fitzgerald said, the progressives would "cut prices down to the level of the pocketbook of the common man" and "take the profits out of inflation."

Asserting that the military budget for the next year will reach 20 billion dollars, Fitzgerald said this will cost each American family $500.

Wallace will be battling President Truman and Governor Thomas E. Dewey on a platform his keynote speaker told cheering, singing and booing delegates is "what the people demand and what the people shall have."

Iowa Editor Talks

Keynoter Charles P. Howard, Iowa Negro editor, laid it on the line last night. He struck hard at both Republicans and Democrats high prices, foreign policy, congress, "Jim Crowism."

Urging America's plain people" to join the fight against the old line political parties, Howard said the choice was "Wallace or war."

And when Wallace accepts the progressive party banner tonight in Shibe park, by his side will be Senator Glen Taylor, Idaho Democrat. Taylor left the ranks headed by President Truman to become the new party's number two man—he'll accept the Progressives vice-presidential nomination.

Back of the Wallace-Taylor ticket will be a national committee expected to be headed by former Governor Elmer Benson of Minnesota. Also a singing, crusading band of delegates who showed last night more vocal power per man—and woman—than the Republicans or Democrats earlier were able to register in Philadelphia - overworked and hot convention hall.

Wallace is to be formally nominated today by Fred Stover who announced his resignation as president of the farmers union in Wallace's home state of Iowa in order to work for the new party.

Taylor's name is to be placed before the delegates by Larkin Marshall, Negro newspaper publisher from Georgia.

Placards Ready

Wallace-Taylor placards were stacked high in a convenient anteroom. They awaited a demonstration that might not rival in length the 30-and-40 minute shows for Wallace's major party opponents. It was expected however to produce more real delegate-in-motion noise than either.

Third Party To Enter Slate on Ohio Ballot

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, July 24—C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for Henry A. Wallace said today the Progressive party will enter a slate of congressional and state candidates in Ohio, though probably not a full slate.

He told a reporter it has not yet been decided whether to enter a candidate for governor. It will be up to the party in Ohio, he added, to decide which offices it will fight for.

Daniels Unrepentant As He Relates Full Account of Slayings

By The Associated Press

CELINA, O., July 24—An unrepentant youth sat unconcernedly in a heavily-guarded jail cell here today, glibly admitting participation in six cold-blooded murders in 14 days.

Good looking, nattily-dressed Robert "Murl" Daniels 22 said he had only two regrets. He was sorry his chain-murder partner John C. West 22 was dead, slain by police. And he was sorry he hadn't had a chance to shoot it out with authorities.

Sheriff F. Ray Shaffer of Van Wert county captured Daniels without a struggle yesterday near Van Wert as he slept in a new car atop the automobile-hauling truck the gunmen stole in an attempt to elude a gigantic road block.

West, the bespectacled triggerman, received a bullet between the eyes in a wild gun battle in which two officers were wounded, one critically.

While Shaffer was arresting Daniels, West jumped out of the driver's seat of the truck, crouched behind the steel door and blazed away with an automatic pistol at Sgt. L. D. Conn of the Van Wert police, who was aiding Shaffer in a road block.

Conn was wounded, but continued to fire from the ground with a sub-machine gun, killing West. Frank Freimoth Van Wert county game protector, had rushed to help — although unarmed. He was hit in the right shoulder before Shaffer could throw him a rifle.

Wounded Officer Rallies

Conn, shot in the lungs, rallied after an operation last night in Van Wert hospital and was reported "considerably improved" today.

"If I hadn't been caught sleeping," Daniels snarled from his jail cell, "I'd have killed all those cops."

Daniels was transferred to the modern jail here last night from Van Wert. Sumner Walters, assistant prosecutor of Van Wert county, described the move as a "precautionary measure." Walters said he did not expect mob violence against Daniels, describing the crowds which milled around the Van Wert jail as orderly. Van Wert is about 25 miles north of here.

Signs Confession

Daniels signed a confession last night, admitting the cornfield slayings of John E. Niebel, 50, Mansfield reformatory farm superintendent, his wife, Nolanda, 52, and their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

He said West shot and killed Earl C. Ambrose, Columbus tavern owner; James Smith, a young Tiffin, O., farmer; and Orville Taylor, Niles, Mich., father of four, who was driving the automobile haulaway.

Michigan state police said they were convinced the pair did not murder Frank Krech, Flat Rock, Mich., tourist camp operator. West and Daniels also have been sought for the hold-up slaying of Krech.

Authorities apparently were agreed that Daniels will be tried in Richland county—site of the Mansfield reformatory—for the Niebel slayings. Prosecutor Theodore Dutz of Richland county said he was preparing first degree murder charges and expected to file them at Mansfield sometime today.

Both Daniels, a resident of Columbus, and West, of Parkersburg, W. Va., served terms at the Mansfield reformatory.

Describes Niebel Slayings

Daniels, known as a "well-mannered, cheerful, soft-spoken fellow" by neighbors, had pride in his voice as he described how he shot down the Niebel family last Wednesday.

"Johnny (West) and I planned this for three or four months," he said. "We wanted to beat hell out of him (Niebel), and if they'd given me a little more time, we'd have wiped 'em all out, those ——— at the reformatory.

"We really went to the reformatory the other day to get Red Phillips (a guard), but we couldn't find him. We killed the Niebels about 1:30 a. m. I went to the door, which Niebel answered, and told him our car was broken down and asked if I could use the phone. He let me in and I covered him with my gun.

"Then Johnny came in and covered him while I went upstairs and got the women. They were all fully clothed, and we drove right through Mansfield with them. We made them undress in the car, and throw their clothes out along the road. (Other statements attributed to Daniels were that the clothes were removed in the cornfield and finally deposited by the killers in an Akron park).

"We finally got to the cornfield and told them to walk in. There was no criminal attack on the women, and we didn't slug anybody. He (Niebel) told the others not to offer any resistance, and they didn't.

"I told them to line up. Then I said 'em [illegible] the girl and then the woman."

Daniels said he originally intended only to "beat the hell" out of the Niebels, but "on the spur of the moment I changed my mind about (using) the blackjack and let them have it."

"I lined them up and said, 'You've got three minutes to get right with the Lord.' He (Niebel) talked tough. I'm not tough. I don't try to act tough. I told them to put their heads down. I fired one shot — I fired two or three ———"

Ambrose was the first victim of the pair. He was shot July 9 during a hold-up in which a woman customer in his tavern was

7 BALL PLAYERS KILLED IN CRASH

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 24 — Seven members of the Duluth baseball club of the Northern league were killed and 18 others were injured today in a head-on collision of their bus and a truck.

The machines collided on a small rise in highway 24 between Western and Dale avenues, in open country at the northern outskirts of St. Paul.

The wreckage burst into flames. Some of the victims were burned horribly before passers-by could pull them out.

The bus was carrying 17 members of the Duluth ball club, known as the Dukes, from Eau Claire, Wis., to St. Cloud, Minn. The team had played in Eau Claire last night and was scheduled to open a series in St. Cloud tonight.

COOLER EMPLOYES TAKE STRIKE VOTE

Plan Walkout Unless Contract Talks Succeed.

A strike vote was taken last night by Local 750 of the United Auto Workers Union (CIO) representing an estimated 500 employes at the Universal Cooler company, union officials said today.

The membership voted to walk out next week unless contract negotiations with the company are successfully completed. Local 750 President William Everly said the vote for the walkout was unanimous at the special membership meeting held in the union's hall at Church and Main streets.

The union is asking a 25 cent per hour flat wage increase plus an additional five cents an hour retirement pay.

Other demands include paid up sickness and accident insurance, three week vacation with pay after five years of employment and replacement of the present bonus system based on department output with a system based on total plant output with all company employes sharing equally.

Everly reported this morning that the union and company are not in agreement on any of the key points in the new contract.

The union negotiating committee was to meet with management representatives this morning and again at 9 a. m. Monday in a final effort to reach an agreement.

A special membership meeting of the union has been set for 3:30 p. m. Monday to receive the report of the negotiating committee.

In the event no agreement on the contract is reached the union is prepared to call out its membership Tuesday, Everly said.

Contract negotiations have been under way since about April 1, shortly preceding the April 11 expiration of the old contract.

Company officials could not be reached for a statement.

Set Three Cars of Wheat As County CROP Gift

Three carloads or approximately 50,000 bushels of wheat is the goal set for Marion county in the Ohio Food Train for Overseas Relief project now under way throughout the state and nation.

The goal was set and plans outlined for the countywide canvass at a meeting of pastors, Grange masters and committee members of the county group last night at the YMCA. The nationwide project is sponsored by the Church World Service, interdenominational body the National Catholic Rural Life Conference and the Lutheran World Relief.

The actual canvass will get under way tomorrow in the churches and will continue through Aug. 8. The soliciting will be done through the churches and in a house-to-house canvass, it is planned. Taking part will be the pastors of churches in the city and communities, Grange masters, agricultural and other groups. In some communities committees of volunteer workers already have been set up and the canvassing ready to get under way.

The grain will be loaded at central points for the overseas shipments.

Others May Give

Those living on farms are not the only ones privileged to share in the humanitarian project, the sponsors point out. Funds are needed to finance the transportation of the products and persons not having grain to give are asked to share in the expense of transportation.

In addition to the grain dairy products such as milk which can be reduced to powder, are also needed.

Distribution of the food products in the devastated lands will be made without regard to race, creed or color, it is pointed out. There is an urgent and present need for the food stuffs for distribution through church channels to the stricken people, orphans, widows, aged and such institutions as pre-tubercular clinics.

Ohio Train Moving Aug. 26

Three sections of the train will begin to move out of the state by Aug. 26, it is planned.

GM ANNOUNCES CAR PRICE HIKES

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 23 — General Motors Corp. today announced a price increase of about eight per cent on all passenger cars.

The increases will become effective Monday.

President C. E. Wilson blamed "rising wages and material costs."

GM recently granted the CIO United Auto Workers an 11 cent an hour wage increase geared to the cost of living. It is to be adjusted probably upward—in September.

It was the first general price increase by general motors since August 1947.

Chrysler Corp. and the Ford Motor Co., chief competitors of General Motors, recently announced price increases also.

"We make this announcement with considerable regret, as we have made every effort to maintain prices," Wilson added in his written statement. He said there would be no changes in truck prices at present.

TIFFIN MAN KILLED

HERBERT COMMENDS POLICE FOR MANHUNT

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, July 24 — Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today commended Ohio law enforcement officers for the capture of Robert M. Daniels and the fatal shooting of John C. West.

"I am sure I speak for every citizen of Ohio commending such and every one of the officers who had a part in ending this reign of terror with the killing of John West and the capture of Robert Daniels," the Governor said in a statement.

"Especially do I wish to compliment Col. George Mingle of the state highway patrol for his able direction of what has been the greatest manhunt in the history of Ohio."

The full resources of the state's law enforcement agencies were thrown into the hunt for Daniels and West following the murders of James Smith, 28, Seneca county farmer, and Orville Taylor, Niles, Mich., truck driver, near Tiffin early yesterday.

The hunt was directed from state highway patrol central headquarters here under the personal supervision of Col. Mingle.

Between 70 and 100 patrol cruisers each manned by at least two men, were ordered into the northwestern section of the state shortly after the double slayings. More than 200 of the patrol's men were thrown into the hunt, with a skeleton force left to police and the balance of the state.

Every maintenance department of the state highway department in a 25-county area also was called to duty to aid in searching for the killers. Mingle also enlisted the aid of railroad detectives throughout the state and commercial radio stations were requested to broadcast descriptions of West and Daniels.

Col. Mingle asked the Indiana highway patrol to guard Ohio's west boundaries and West Virginia police were alerted and guards were posted at all bridges leading out of Ohio across the Ohio river.

Each patrol center in the state notified what Mingle termed their "close contacts," putting an additional 750 persons into the search.

Patrol stations in a 30-mile radius of Tiffin contacted every telephone subscriber to be on the watch for the two men. Road blocks were set up on the No. 1 perimeter, an imaginary circle on Ohio's map within a 30-mile radius of Tiffin.

A secondary perimeter was established 20 miles beyond this

PACIFIC TESTS SHOW POSITION IS IMPROVED

Truman Says Secrecy Will Be Maintained Until Russia Is Cooperative.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — President Truman reaffirmed today that the United States will lift secrecy surrounding atomic energy when Soviet Russia and other nations join in a "workable" international system of control.

Until they do, however, Mr. Truman said he has directed that "every effort be made toward maintaining the leading position of the United States" in the atomic field.

He said the recent tests in the Pacific have shown the American position in the field of atomic weapons has been substantially improved.

Mr. Truman's remarks were contained in a statement issued by the White House in connection with an atomic energy commission report to congress.

In its report the commission lifted the secrecy lid just a bit on the recent tests at Eniwetok atoll to which Mr. Truman referred. The commission let this much information out:

▶ The "three atomic weapons of new and improved design" tested at the super-secret proving grounds in the Marshall islands were bombs—not non-explosive weapons, as had been widely speculated;

▶ They proved that "the position of the United States in the field of atomic weapons has been substantially improved."

Mr. Truman blamed Russia for failure of attempts to work out a system of international control. He said:

"Our government has sought, through its representatives on the United Nations atomic energy commission, to find a common basis for understanding with other member nations. However, the uncompromising refusal of the Soviet Union to participate in a workable control system has thus far obstructed progress."

Of the need for secrecy to protect U. S. security, the President said:

"Secrecy is always distasteful to a free people. In scientific research, it is a handicap to productivity. But our need for security in an insecure world, compels us at the present time, to maintain a high order of secrecy in many of our atomic energy undertakings.

"When the nations of the world are prepared to join with us in the international control of atomic energy, this requirement of secrecy will disappear."

In its fourth semi-annual report to congress, the commission had a great deal to say about peaceful uses for atomic energy, although it added:

"We do not see how it would be possible under the most favorable circumstances to have any considerable portion of the present power supply of the world replaced by nuclear fuel before the expiration of 20 years."

Seek Increased Force

The report indicated that the recent Pacific tests were aimed at getting greater explosive force out of atomic bombs. Eniwetok scientists said the commission were looking for the answers to "specific questions arising in connection with the instantaneous release of nuclear energy for its explosive effect."

The atomic officials hinted also that the tests did considerable damage to the atoll. The proving ground now is "being reconditioned and placed in standby status for further use," they said.

As for peacetime uses of atomic energy, the commission had this to say:

"Radio-isotopes, by-products of the atomic bomb," constitute the first great contribution of the development of atomic energy to peacetime welfare."

These isotopes, used to trace elements coursing through the bodies of humans and animals and also to treat some diseases directly, "are building up, bit by bit, a new understanding of the dynamic processes of life." The report declared, adding:

"All told, more than 1,000 different isotope projects are being conducted today, and they deal, in one way or another, with every important aspect of the physical welfare of mankind."

These atomic by-products, the

PRICE HOLDS UP AERIAL TRUCK

Cost Is Above Amount Provided in Action by City Council.

One thousand dollars stands between the city of Marion and a new aerial ladder firetruck by Dec. 1.

City council will give the "yes" or "no" on whether Marion's fire department gets the new aerial truck, E. O. Uncapher, city safety-service director said today.

Marion's present aerial truck, or as the old timers call it "the hook and ladder wagon," is now a museum piece still on active duty. The old hook and ladder will celebrate its thirty-second birthday at Central fire station on Oct. 1. Unless council acts Monday night to authorize the required additional funds for purchase of a new aerial ladder that same old hook and ladder will be still on active duty well into next year.

Bid Price at $26,000

On June 14 council passed ordinance 5021 authorizing the safety-service director to advertise for bids for an 85-foot aerial ladder truck, price not to exceed $26,000. One bid was received. It was submitted by the American La France Foamite Corp. of Elmira, N. Y., builders of about 30 per cent of all America's fire engines. As sole bidder American La France offered the city a choice of two 85-foot aerail ladder trucks, exactly what the city wants in the way of a fire truck. There is only one thing wrong with each of these two trucks. The price of one model, without a cab, is $27,000 while the other model with a cab costs $27,750.

A second fly in the fire truck ointment is the city's requirement of a $5,000 performance bond if the bid is accepted. The city set a delivery deadline of Dec. 1 of this year. American La France believes it can deliver the fire truck by that date but because of the chance of unforseen circumstances beyond their control they ask the performance bond requirement be waived by the city.

As two requirements of the ordinance regulating the submission of bids were not met by the bidder Safety-Service Director Uncapher rejected the bid Thursday.

Price Is Question

The chances of the city and American La France reaching an agreement on the performance bond requirement are excellent Mr. Uncapher said. The question of whether council will agree to another $1,000 or $1,750 to pay for the new truck is unpredictable.

The present hook and ladder has been recommended for retirement in the annual fire chief's report every year for the last 10 years. City firemen make no secret of the fact they fear for their lives every time they have to mount its creaky and worn wooden ladders.

An ordinance has already been approved by city council for the issue of $26,000 in 10-year notes and bonds against operating funds within the 10 mill limit. An amendment of the ordinance to cover the added amount required to buy the aerial ladder truck will be before council for action Monday night.

Extensive Atomic Research Reported

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—More than 300 laboratories and hospitals are doing research in atomic energy, congress was told today by the atomic energy commission.

The researchers are using radioactive isotopes produced by the war-born atomic energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Radioactive isotopes are certain kinds of atoms that science can use for the treatment of disease or as "spies" in chemical and biological experiments.

A special committee advises the commission on what institutions qualify to obtain isotopes from Oak Ridge. In two years 1,700 out of 1,742 applications have been approved. At present 100 kinds of available radioisotopes are listed in the AEC catalog. The prices charged reflect only direct production costs.

About 40 per cent of the isotopes are used in medical research. Other uses are medical treatment, plant physiology, bacteriology, chemistry, physics, industrial research and metallurgy.

Here is a partial list of users of isotopes.

Daniels Admits 6 Killings

wounded seriously. A few hours before West and Daniels menaced 100 customers and escaped with a reported $8,000 in another Columbus tavern holdup.

The pair was recognized by customers in the Ambrose place touching off a manhunt which eventually spread to 26 states with five different law agencies aiding.

The Niebels were slain next—last Wednesday.

Again the gunmen, driving their same stolen gray Pontiac, escaped.

The beginning of the end of their reign of terror—worst in Ohio since the days of John Dillinger 14 years ago—came late Thursday night.

Smith, a 25-year-old Seneca county farmer, was driving home from Tiffin with his young wife after a visit to an ice cream parlor when the pair forced his car to the curb. They had decided to take the Smith car and abandon their own.

Tells of Smith Killing

"I just got the right hand door open (on the car belonging to Smith) when I heard a shot," Daniels said. "I didn't know whether Johnny got it or this guy got it. I pushed the woman in the back seat and Johnny drove up alongside. She got out the right door and I got out the left and Johnny drove me off."

The killers then went to a state park near Tiffin, and found the automobile-carrying-truck parked there.

"I walked to the door," Daniels said, "and told him (trucker Taylor) to get out. He was sleeping. He got out and Johnny said, 'I'll take care of him.' He marched him into the bushes and shot him. There were two shots."

Meantime, Mrs. Smith had run to a farm home and called the sheriff's office. The house tightened about the gunmen as roadblocks were set up over a 30-mile area.

Large Area Searched

Law officers from throughout Ohio rushed to the northwestern section of the state. Col. George Mingle of the state highway patrol estimated 95 per cent of his troopers were there. Relentlessly, the law enforcement men closed in. They searched every barn, every grove, every country lane.

Finally, at shortly before 10 a. m. yesterday, the end came. Tall, grey-haired Sheriff Shaffer, Sergeant Conn and Game Warden Freimoth manned a road blockade at the intersections of routes 224 and 627, six miles northeast of Van Wert.

"Our routine," said Shaffer, "was for me to walk out and stop vehicles while the sergeant kept me covered with a sub-machine-gun. This driveaway truck came along, carrying four new Studebakers. The driver, who turned out to be West, was the only one visible.

"I walked up to him and he said, 'What do you want?'

"I asked him if he had any passengers, and he said, 'No.' But I told him to wait anyway, while I looked around. I noticed he acted jittery and he just didn't look like a truck driver to me.

The "Old Hunch" Worked

"That's why I was so careful. It was the old hunch working, and the only thing that kept me from getting it instead of Conn. I walked around and looked into the cars on the truck. There wasn't a thing in the first three.

"But as I peered through the rear window of the fourth, a coupe, I saw a hat. That made me even more suspicious. Edging to the side, I looked in again, and saw a man crouched on the seat. It turned out to be Daniels. I ordered him to come out, and he did, saying: 'Don't shoot. You've got me. Tell me what to do.'

"While I was busy with Daniels, West jumped out of the truck cab, crouched back of the door and began firing at Conn with an automatic pistol. Conn was hit and fell to the ground, but from a prone position he fired back, hitting West between the eyes with one slug.

"Conn got up after he was shot and had stopped West, and climbed painfully into the police cruiser in an attempt to operate the radio. He's a brave man.

"When I saw Conn go down, I threw a rifle to Freimoth, who had come up, but he said he had been hit, too."

Shaffer and Conn thus became the leading candidates for rewards totaling $5,250.

Four heavily-armed men brought the handcuffed Daniels here last night.

West's Body Taken Home

Meanwhile, the body of West was enroute to Parkersburg, W. Va., for burial. Mrs. Vernon D. Willis, with whom West's mother lives, said funeral services would be held Monday afternoon, with burial in Parkersburg.

The mother, Mrs. Della West, 58, and white-haired, sobbed that she would "never understand what happened to my boy." She said she "deeply regretted" the 14-day reign of terror he and Daniels staged.

Mrs. Robert L. Daniels, mother of "Murl," said:

"We are too broken up. We've had too much grief to talk about it."

The father, known as a "hard-working man," added:

"I can't say anything. I don't know anything about it. Leave me alone."

Daniels and West had only local notoriety before they flashed into the national spotlight with six murders in a fortnight.

Daniels' police record dates back to 1941, when he was sentenced to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster for auto theft. Two years later he was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory on an unarmed robbery charge. He later escaped from an honor camp, but gave himself up and was paroled last November.

West was arrested three times while living in Cleveland. He was paroled last March after serving time for a grand larceny charge. He and Daniels apparently became acquainted while inmates of the reformatory.

The sawed-off 1947 Pontiac the gunmen used was reported stolen from a downtown Columbus parking lot on June 23, a month to the day it was recovered, police records showed. The auto was registered in the name of Mrs. Jean Teael, 374 S. Ludlow avenue, Columbus.

Among things found in the car were a 25-caliber Mauser automatic high-powered rifle shells, 380 rifle shells, some 45 and 22 shells, Northern [illegible] and a traffic ticket from Paris, Ill., dated July 17.

Daniels, while questioned about the slayings, volunteered the information he could take authorities "to a place in the Manifold reformatory and dig up a skeleton."

He claimed the inmate was killed by a reformatory officer and asserted: "I know who did it."

The automobile carrying trucks was owned by the Bolin Driveaway Co. of Cleveland. Authorities said it would be released sometime today to the owners, who said the four new Studebakers would be started again to their destination at Welch, W. Va. Oddly, the new cars were not damaged by the shooting. The door of the truck was riddled by bullets.

CHARGE IS FILED TO HOLD DANIELS

By The Associated Press

VAN WERT, O., July 24—Robert Daniels, 22, held in jail at Celina for six slayings, was formally charged in justice of the peace court here today with shooting a policeman with intent to kill.

The charge was filed to hold the prisoner pending decision where he is to be tried for the cold blooded slayings attributed to him and his pal, John C. West, in Ohio during the past 14 days. West was shot to death at the time of Daniels' capture near here yesterday.

Sheriff F. Roy Shaffer of Van Wert county declared he would retain custody of Daniels pending the outcome of the wounds of Police Sgt. Leonard D. Conn.

Although Conn was shot by West, Prosecutor Alter T. Stroup said Daniels could be charged as an abettor to the shooting.

Meanwhile, Richland County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz left Mansfield for Celina with three warrants charging Daniels with first degree murder in the slaying of the Niebel family. Lutz was prepared to demand custody of Daniels.

Sheriff Shaffer said he would retain custody of the prisoner for the time being at least no matter how many murder warrants were served on the prisoner at Celina.

Murder Victim's Widow To Get $250 Reward

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., July 24—The Mansfield News-Journal announced today a reward of $250 will be paid the widow of James Smith, Tiffin, O., farmer upon the conviction of Robert Daniels on murder charges.

The newspaper offered the reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Daniels and John C. West.

Smith was shot to death July 22 when he objected to turning over his driver's license to the killers.

The News-Journal said the widow played an important part in stopping the killers by informing authorities immediately after her husband was slain and spreading a statewide alert.

Richland county commissioners offered a reward of $5,000 for information leading to the capture of the killers following the slaying of the Niebel family here. The commissioners said disposition of the reward will be decided upon after the conviction of Daniels.

Doctor Reports He Was Abducted and Beaten

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 24—A 41-year-old doctor told Sheriff J. Arthur Shuman yesterday he had been abducted, slugged, robbed and left in a ditch five miles south of here after being lured from his office by a young boy who pretended to be ill.

Shuman quoted Dr. Herbert L. Fish Jr., an osteopathic physician, as saying a tall, blonde man placed a revolver at his back in the hallway outside his office after he had answered the call of a 15-year-old boy.

Fish said he was forced into his own car and driven south from Springfield. After being slugged into unconsciousness he was stripped of a wallet containing $60 and his credentials, he said.

U.S. TO DOUBLE FOOD TO BERLIN

Americans Not To Be Chased from German Capital Clay Asserts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—A plan to double the supplies of food flown to Soviet-blockaded Berlin gave Russia a trial—in the words of Gen. Lucius D. Clay—pretty good evidence that Americans will refuse to be chased from the German capital.

The American commander in Germany announced the plan to boost food and fuel shipments at a news conference yesterday following two days of talks with the highest U. S. policy-making officials, including President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall.

Clay's departure for Berlin to start putting the increased operation coincided almost exactly with the departure of Charles E. Bohlen, state department counsellor for London to confer with U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas.

Draft New Protest

Bohlen and Douglas were expected to discuss drafting of a new note to Russia protesting the light blockade imposed on all surface transportation between western-occupied Berlin areas and the occupied zones of Western Germany.

Clay subscribed heartily to President Truman's assertion that the chances for peace are excellent. While he explained that he didn't want to minimize "the seriousness of the situation" in Germany, Clay declared:

"I don't think there is anybody in this world that is out looking for war at this moment, and if the people and the countries involved don't want war it looks to me like we have an excellent chance of finding a solution which is peaceful."

How Plan Works

Here is how the air transport of food and fuel will be expanded to meet absolutely essential needs:

1. A "large" number of C-54 transports will be added to the shuttle service. This, with British air force operations, will increase the daily tonnage flown into the city from the present 7,000 tons to 8,500 tons. Some 54 four-engine C-54s and 96 twin-engine C-47 now are being used by the United States for the job.

Reds To Issue New Currency

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, July 24—Russia acted today to issue a new permanent money for eastern Germany and Berlin. And she repeated her claims that Berlin is economically part of the Soviet zone.

Marshall Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, decreed issuance of the new Soviet ordinance" and would "take appropriate measures."

Meanwhile the Russians continued their harassing tactics along the air lanes used by the Western Allies in supply. Each added Berlin. The British said Soviet planes were dropping burning pieces of tin foil between Berlin and Hamburg. The previous day they charged the Russians with "three more" flight violations.

FIGHTER GIVES DEWEY PRICE CONTROL VIEWS

By International News Service

PAWLING, N. Y., July 24—Ohio State Grange Master Joseph W. Fessler told Republican presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey today that price controls on farm products will not lower the high cost of food to consumers.

In a statement to him on Governor Dewey at a meeting in Pawling, N. Y., Fessler said "lower food prices will result from increased production and that controls will decrease production.

The Grange master said farmers everywhere are ready to continue to provide an abundant supply of farm produce, but in order to plan for the future they need assurance that natural economic forces will be permitted to govern without undue restrictions."

Driver Is Injured As Car Kills Steer

A car driven by Willard Doyle of Toledo struck and killed a steer from the farm of the late J. M. Hamilton of near Marion at 8:30 a. m. yesterday on route 4 a mile and a half north of Marion, the state highway patrol reported today.

Mr. Doyle was treated for back injuries at the Marion City hospital and released.

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., July 24—Most of the 2,000 families menaced by Thursday's flash flood had returned to their homes last night.

About 20 families were still sheltered in a Red Cross station set up in the Sherman armory in downtown Lancaster and at the Salvation Army center. The Red Cross canteen in West Lancaster served food to about 500 persons yesterday.

HOSPITAL DRIVE COMMITTEE NAMED

46 Chosen for Executive Body at Meeting.

A 46-member executive committee was named last night to spearhead the drive for the new city-county hospital bond issue at a public meeting held in Central Junior High school auditorium. Walter D. Moore, president of the Marion Civic Planning association, presided at the meeting.

An organization meeting of the 46-member countywide executive committee was planned for 8:30 p. m. Tuesday at City hospital. At this meeting plans will be completed to get the hospital drive under way.

A proposal to employ a full time secretary for the bond issue drive was considered at last night's meeting but a decision deferred until a later date.

Boyle at Wallace Convention

New Party Born Amid Strange Circumstances

PHILADELPHIA

THE young mother — she couldn't have been more than 20—calmly pulled out a plump breast and fed her three-month-old child

Nobody in the crowded corridors of Convention hall last night paused to stare at her

An elderly man who had padded past a without a glance A 71-year-old lady who had driven 460 miles in one day to hear Henry Wallace didn't even see the young mother She asked only

"Where can I send a telegram to let my folks know I arrived here all right"

HAL BOYLE

A weary crippled man body bent into a lifelong question mark by illness sat unheeding in a wheelchair

In a side corridor of the vast hall 69 year-old Mrs Katherine DePauw known as the goat lady of Miami Fla, walked back and forth carrying a wooden sandwich board sign which said on her back

"Fear trust and love God-wisdom with all your might

Americans have false Gods They trust the dollar more and worship demon mecotine Therefore they have degenerated and cannot comprehend the true God

"Repent repen' repent

This was the setting last night as America's newest political baby—the party of former Vice President Henry Wallace and Sen Glen Taylor of Idaho—was born under circumstances confusing to any hospital

They named the child born on the wrong side of the political railroad tracks the Progressive Party"

The father however was named Angel and the mother was fear The baby itself was a cross-section of American discontent and post-war frustration But the 10 000 faithful who saw the baby born thought its godfather and godmother were—Mr and Mrs Hope

THE BIRTH TOOK PLACE amid hillbilly music strummed on a guitar and powerful pleas for world peace and an end to race prejudice in the United States There was fervor and evangelicalism

An old man and his wife clapped loudly at a speaker's demand for a $100 a month pension for the elderly A young man in a polo shirt wearing a white handkerchief around his head ran up and down the center aisle cheering a platform condemnation of the draft and universal military training

Representatives of 19 nationalities within the pattern of the American melting pot were there and they were calling for an end to political and economic discrimination against racial minorities And they put the dark problem of the Negro first The keynote speaker was Charles P Howard, an Iowa Negro lawyer

But the galleries—Philadelphia is only one hour and a half by train from Manhattan—cheered loudest the demand by Rep. Leo Isacson of New York City for an immediate lifting of the embargo against the shipment of arms to Israel

THERE WAS NO DOUBT that the new political baby was a 'people's party Many of the delegates were so short of cash they hitch-hiked here Large numbers slept in automobiles to save the price of a hotel room

They had depth of feeling they had enthusiasm—but for all the hillbilly musical atmosphere they were guided by no amateurs The speeches bore the marks of polished literary skill

A group of Philadelphia policemen who had guarded all three political conventions here talked this way about the Progressive party

Why did she have to pull out her breast in front of all those people" The baby should have been in bed anyway

These people are screwballs We ought to put bars around the place and keep them all in here

"God help us if these people come to power

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Chronic Bronchitis Needs Care.

Older people with chronic bronchitis usually believe their symptoms are due to such things as changes in the weather, too much smoking or, perhaps, the dripping of infected material from the nose into the throat. A careful investigation, however, will usually show that the difficulty is due to none of these things but has been brought about by an acute infection of the respiratory tract at some time in the past.

In children and young adults this condition, as well as the more serious one known as bronchiectasis in which there are stretching and rupture of the fine tubes of the lung can often be traced to an attack of pneumonia following measles or whooping cough.

We are thus beginning to realize that every epidemic of acute respiratory infection leaves behind it thousands doomed to chronic illness from bronchitis or bronchiectasis. The fact that a person has apparently recovered from influenza or pneumonia does not mean that the infection has been completely eradicated, even if the sulfonamide drugs or penicillin has been administered during the disease. Unlike penumonia due to pneumococcal germs, infections of the lungs with staphylococci or streptococci frequently fail to clear up completely and may lead to blocking of the bronchi with scar tissue formation, and bronchiectasis may develop.

The fires of infection smoulder rather than burn and the damage done may be less obvious, but it is no less sure. In fact, it is almost more certain because the change from an acute to a chronic stage often takes place without noteworthy signs or symptoms; therefore, it may develop without adequate treatment being given.

For example, a person who continues to cough after he is apparently cured of pneumonia rarely considers that his condition may be serious. After recurrent attacks of fever, it is found that the condition may be due to acute bronchitis, and sulfonamide drugs or penicillin are again administered.

If adequate treatment is not given, the condition will progress until chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis develop. It is suggested, therefore, that in these patients penicillin be administered over a long period of time in the form of a vapor breathed into the lungs.

The treatment should be carried out for from one to two weeks with large doses of the penicillin. The dosage is then reduced and the treatment continued for from two to six months. It is thought that by this means chronic diseases of the lungs can be warded off and thousands spared the expense and the long-drawn-out misery of the "aftermath" afflictions.

SEES TAX APPRAISAL FINISHED BY JAN. 1

Staff Supervisor Here Talks Before C. of C. Group.

"At the rate we are going now, the Marion county real estate reappraisal should be finished before the first of the year," Lloyd McGuire, field supervisor and staff appraiser for the Cole-Layer-Trumble Co. told members and guests of the Chamber of Commerce taxation and agricultural committees yesterday at a luncheon meeting at the Snyder hotel.

The appraiser outlined methods used by his firm in conducting the appraisal here. Purpose of the appraisal, he reviewed is to obtain equalization of property valuation. He said his appraisers determined unit costs on the basis of 1941 building costs, rather than on what it would cost to reproduce them today.

In concluding his brief talk McGuire expressed Cole-Layer-Trumble company appreciation "for the fine cooperation of city and county officials in conducting this appraisal."

He was introduced by John W. Dowler, chairman of the taxation committee. Also introduced for brief remarks were Ira Korst and R. W. Sneeringer, of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce tax department, Columbus.

City and county officials present as guests included Mayor Harry L. Dowler, Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher, City Engineer Tom S. Cathers, Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt, County Auditor Maurice C. Clements, County Prosecutor James E. Reed and assistant superintendent of county schools, Ivan R. Barnhart.

JOHN H. CLARK

JOHN CLARK NAMED BOARD CHAIRMAN

Attorney To Head Salvation Army Advisory Group.

Election of officers, presentation of annual report and approval of the 1949 budget were major items of business when the Salvation Army Advisory board met Friday for a noon luncheon at Hotel Marion. Chosen to head the board for the coming year was John H. Clark of 289 Bowsher street, Marion attorney.

C. O. Brown was elected vice chairman and reelected were Miss Edna Dutton, secretary, and Ralph C. Hurr, treasurer. Mr. Clark succeeds A. T. Allen as chairman of the advisory board.

Welcomed as new members of the board were Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, of the probate and juvenile court, Miss Jessie Lindsey and Miss Mary K. Miley. Judge Ruzzo was named to serve for a term of three years, Miss Lindsey, two years and Miss Miley one year. Reelected for a term of three years were Carl J. Watrous, A. T. Allen, Mrs. Florence S. Baker, Miss Edna S. Dutton and Cutler McGrew.

Mr. Allen presided for the meeting and present was Major William Chamberlain of Cincinnati, divisional secretary. Indications throughout the country point to heavier demands on the welfare department of the Army during the coming months, due in a measure to curtailment by the government of relief funds and the increase in the number of transients, the board was told by Major Chamberlain.

Cecil Gabler, chairman of the youth activities, gave a report on the playground maintained by the Salvation Army at headquarters on North Prospect street. To date 133 children are registered by card and the attendance has been more than 2,360. In addition to the playground directors, Miss Ruby Vahey, a student at Asbury college, Wilmore, Ky. and Ralph Young, 17 persons have volunteered their services.

The Salvation Army is a participating agency of the Marion Community Foundation.

EGYPTIANS STAGE REIGN OF TERROR

By The United Press

NICOSIA, RHODES, July 24—Travelers reported today that Egyptian mobs staged a three-day reign of terror against westerners in Cairo last weekend, killing at least two and mauling others in demonstrations protesting the Palestine truce.

Scores of attacks were made against Americans, British, French and Italians. Panic spread through the entire city as mobs roamed the streets, stopping cars in their search for victims.

Order was not restored until Tuesday, when police called out mounted and helmeted reserves. The Egyptian capital still is a seething volcano of hate, these reports said, but police are taking the strongest measures to prevent new outbursts.

Egyptian censorship prohibited any report on the attacks.

Authoritative sources blamed the Moslem Brotherhood for the attacks. The brotherhood was described as a nationalistic group interested in driving westerners from the Middle East.

These sources said zealots incited the easily enraged Egyptians against westerners because of the United Nations security council's pressure to halt the war in Palestine.

The only hints of the Cairo riots were released through diplomatic channels. One of those killed was Stephen Hase, a Philadelphia businessman traveling through the Middle East.

The second westerner killed was a Frenchman, the coach of the Egyptian Olympic team. He was with a friend also French. Both were stabbed and the coach died.

Pleads Not Guilty To Stabbing Charge

Irene Delilah Berry, 38, of 744½ Fairfield street, pleaded not guilty today to a charge of stabbing her husband, Houston Berry, with intent to wound, filed by city police. She is being held under $2,000 bond in Marion county jail to await a hearing in municipal court at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Both Mrs. Berry and her husband were arrested by police for investigation after a cutting scrape at their home on the night of July 17. Berry suffered nine knife wounds in the affray.

Should Irene Berry be bound over to the Marion county grand jury Tuesday by Judge Hazen she will be up for indictment for the second time this year. The May term of the Marion county grand jury failed to return an indictment against Mrs. Berry after she was charged by police with shooting a friend with a shotgun early this year.

Confusion Is the Idea

THE HENRY Wallace catch-all movement in national politics now is fully organized for whatever nuisance value it may have in the 1948 election.

There have been some two dozen minor parties superficially similar to the Wallace party in the last 115 years. That is, they have been catch-alls to rally dissident minorities unable or unwilling to adjust themselves to major party policies or candidates. Each of them has contributed to the political confusion automatically created by interference with the American political custom of choosing between alternatives—the two-party system. But the resemblance between them and the Wallace party ends there.

The basis of the Wallace party is different from any of the native third-party movements of the past. It is a protest movement strongly backed and apparently conceived by members of an organization—the Communist party of the United States—whose leaders are under federal indictment for conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States. Without the backing of that organization, the Wallace party would be of no consequence. With that organization's backing, the Wallace party is of consequence, for this reason:

Confusion in politics is the known aim and the favorite practice of the Communist conspiracy. The purpose is to divide and control the so-called liberals in politics—to keep them scattered and weak because they are the political element most feared by those who favor authoritarian government and suppression of human liberty.

Norman Thomas, the old-time socialist, knows this. Labor unionists like Walter Reuther know it. That's why they are fighting the Wallace movement; they know the score. Unfortunately, many of Wallace's followers don't know it. Even more unfortunately, many non-followers haven't comprehended it. They are confused, which is exactly the idea behind any support given to any American organization by the Communist party of the United States.

Advising Gen. Clay

GEN CLAY returns to Berlin after his conferences with army and state department officials. As a result of the sessions President Truman has sounded a note of optimism. The Berlin situation will ease, he says, and the world peace outlook will improve.

The general's visit should clarify problems in the minds of all concerned with handling the Berlin hot potato. The army and the state department exercise dual authority in dealing with Russia, yet the state department has had very little part in the Berlin dispute. The army for its part, has been allowing Gen. Clay a virtually free hand in improvising to meet the Russians' moves.

During his Washington conferences, the general must have given information and received advice and instructions on future moves. The responsibility at Berlin certainly is too great to entrust to one man, however competent he may be.

Fourth Round Coming Up

BETWEEN the third and fourth rounds of wage - price - profit boosting, consumers will have time for some sober meditation on the shape of things as they are.

It's perfectly clear now that management cannot check the inflationary spiral, aside from increasing rates of production by improving efficiency and expanding facilities. As one thoughtful owner-manager, J. F. Lincoln of Cleveland, recently pointed out, management and labor are actually on the same side of the bargaining table insofar as any agreement which raises costs of production is made at the expense of consumers who thereafter must pay higher prices.

Last year, according to the federal reserve board, a fourth of the spending units in the population spent more than they received and estimated that this year the proportion would be substantially larger.

In commenting on Mr. Lincoln's point of view we said that consumers are helpless to bargain with the management-labor combination because consumers are not organized. Since then, President Truman has given new impetus to the only possibility of organized consumer action—through government. He has made it plain that one of his chief campaign tactics will be to tell consumers that they can stop price inflation by federal legislation.

In doing this Mr. Truman is insincere. He does not acknowledge that price inflation is the source of wage inflation, to which he points with pride, or to the inflation of farm income which he also claims as a credit to his administration. Nevertheless, he has called attention to the only way that consumers as a group can act—through government. They would be as disappointed if they tried it as they were when price control was subsidizing the black market, but the danger is that office-seekers again may play politics with human misery unless voluntary restraints avert the prospect that a fourth round of increases will follow the third round and a fifth will follow the fourth.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Politicians' Talk—but the People Know

IT does one good to get away from the great men who have been bawling at us for weeks now and talk about the simple folks who do the work of this country.

Up here in Sandisfield, in Massachusetts, we have been a long time getting electric power. In spite of all the noise that politicians make about rural electrification, the farmers in these mountains are just getting electricity in the year 1948 and they are very happy to have it. Better late than never. But that is not what I want to write about today. It is rather about a foreman, Harry Shutts, who was out on these roads supervising a tough job of digging in this rocky soil, of finding water in every hole, of using inexperienced labor of getting results such as foremen used to get in the old days before featherbedding. Before men were taught to work as little as they could get away with, and often less than that.

SOKOLSKY

I have those too, up in these parts. I watch their slow motion, their saving of effort, their time-watching at 3:30 to see when their watches will show 4. I have seen them leave work unfinished so that it had to be started all over again the next day. I have seen contractors lose money on jobs because their help did slipshod work that had to be taken down and done again after inspection. I have seen damage done by careless, ridiculously careless work. And I have listened by the hour to the union rules.

Boss Shows the Way

But not the gang that Harry Shutts supervised. They earned their pay and he kept them at work, not by bossing, not by shouting at them, but by his own example and energy. He was like a hen with her chickens, moving here and there watching that nobody got into trouble, guarding against mistakes and accidents. And the most amusing part of it was that, although no longer a youngster, he showed his crew, mostly of war veterans, how to work up in the crown of a maple, how to climb a pole and all that sort of thing. Apparently he never asked anyone to do anything which he could not or would not do.

It was an impressive picture, lasting about a week near this house, and I suppose all the time in other parts. It was a picture of the kind of hard physical work and straight thinking and decent human relations which built this country before the days when a handout became as respectable as a dollar earned. It was an example of what created the power of America, the tremendous strength of our country which came out of the muscles and sinew and sweat of our people.

No Thanks to Politicians

It was exciting to see these men put in a high line of power and to listen to the politicians talk about all the rural electrification they gave us over 16 years and then to watch this efficient crew actually put the poles in the ground, string the wire and tap on the juice. In the face of the facts, the politicians talk is just so much static. And nobody needs to be grateful ever to a politician, who is spending the taxpayers' money.

And that is something they still have to learn. The people know. The people know by daily experience. They shop. They know that meat is not only dear it is not plentiful. They wonder where it all goes. They wonder whether communism in Europe can really be defeated by rationing the American people by keeping prices high and exporting excessively.

The farmers know. They know that government buyers keep prices high. The farmer is no dope. He knows that he gets more for his product and pays more for what he buys. Sure, his income is up, but so is his outgo and so do his taxes remain high. He is beginning to calculate as many of us have already done, that a 50-cent dollar is not a hundred-cent dollar.

Let the politicians talk—but the people know.

The High Price of Meat

From The Western Livestock Journal

THOSE of us who spend a great deal of our time working with cattlemen, cattle feeders and breeders of registered livestock had quite a confab the other day and, of course, the discussion was centered on prices.

We all agreed that stockmen generally are taking a sober view of the price situation. There are few who are particularly elated about the relatively high prices being paid on the markets for fat cattle, and it must be admitted that the cost of replacement cattle is rather frightening.

It is true that wage earners have very high buying power, yet the cost of everything the wage earner must buy is so high that high wages mean very little. We all agreed that housewives are complaining bitterly about the cost of food. Sure they are buying all the meat that is offered in the retail shops, but they are not very happy about the prices they must pay.

There most assuredly is no disposition on the part of livestock owners to gloat over the high prices they are receiving. Actually, stockmen have little or no voice in establishing the prices they receive for their livestock, nor do they have anything to say about the retail prices of meat.

These prices are established by old laws of supply and demand. As a matter of fact retail meat prices are established by the consumer, and are based upon the ability and the willingness of the consumer to buy the supply of meat that is available.

Buying power, reflected through high consumer income as a result of the successful demands for higher and higher wages, is at an all time high. In the face of this, the supply of meat is dwindling because during and immediately after the war producers cut deeply into their breeding herds in order to meet the record demands for meat. Heavy use of grain for industrial use and heavy exports abroad all helped to create the present shortage of meat.

Easing the Nurse Shortage

WHILE there is a shortage of nurses the available force can be utilized more efficiently according to Ella Best, executive secretary of the American Nurses association.

Two deficiencies that are being corrected to some extent are the inequitable distribution of nurses between rural and urban areas and the assignment of skilled nurses to tasks that could be handled by auxiliary personnel. The association, representing 160,000 registered nurses, is extending its resources to correct these conditions.

Three years ago the association established the Professional Counseling and Placement Service which operates in 30 states and elsewhere through its national office in New York. The service advises nurses professional practical and prospective, on the types of work for which they are best fitted by personality, skill, education and experience. The other phase of the service's work is supplying employers of nurses with personnel best qualified for each position.

The association points out that today there are more registered professional nurses in active service than ever before. However, the demand for their services has increased at a rate far greater than that at which they can be trained.

Between 1936 and 1946 the number of yearly hospital admissions increased 75 per cent, reaching 15,153,452 in 1946. One in every 10 citizens went to the hospital last year, which means that the hospital admission rate was one patient every two seconds.

Hospital births have increased 157 per cent in the same decade so that now two-thirds of all babies are born in hospitals. Other reasons for the increased demand for nurses are hospital insurance plans which now list more than 40,000,000 members, the Veterans Administration's program of medical and nursing care and health education programs in schools and factories.

Italy's Togliatti

He Heads Largest Red Party Outside Russia

PALMIRO TOGLIATTI, who was gravely wounded by an assailant is considered Moscow's ablest tactician abroad. Italian Communists call him "Il Migliore"—the best.

The Communist chieftain was born in Genoa. He came from a lower middle class family and was first active as a Socialist. He became a Communist in 1921 the year before Mussolini came into power. When that occurred Togliatti went into hiding. Most of his time during fascism's Italian reign was spent in Russia where he learned to speak Russian fluently. He promoted the Communist cause in Spain during the civil war and also spent part of his exile in France and Switzerland.

From 1941 until the Italian armistice in 1943 he broadcast to Italy from Moscow. Then he returned and began building the Italian Communist party.

The Italian Communist party claims 2,252,718 members, the largest outside Russia. As its head Togliatti is a crafty adroit leader and a formidable debater in the national senate. He serves there with his wife, the former Rita Montagnana, another old-line Communist.

Togliatti helped organize the Cominform and signed the denunciation of Tito who had been his close friend. At 55 he is the youngest of Italy's top-line politicians.

Cars for Cripples

By The Associated Press

LONDON—Britain is considering a scheme to provide free cars for some crippled ex-servicemen and disabled workers.

The plan, now in its early stages, will be discussed by the national advisory committee on service pensions.

Glenvil Hall, financial secretary to the treasury, said recently in the house of commons that the minister of pensions hopes to announce the scheme shortly, whereby the disabled men would have cars free of charge to help them in their business or to allow them "to get occasionally into the sunlight."

Gourmands Anonymous

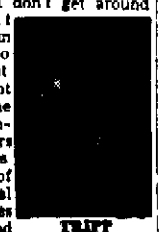
By Frank Tripp

THIS is a report on the hulk remodeling process and dehydration program which Larry Hobler inflicted on me. Larry is a doctor, shuns publicity, so by no stretch could this be a plug for him.

The kind of plug I first felt like giving him was not one in the paper. It was one on the nose. But I begin to think that maybe his streamline model is going to work out better than my original covered wagon design.

Being as so many of you just read my hogwash and don't get to see me, and being as how a lot of old pals around my once-frequented haunts don't either, I'll try to picture what's happened.

The reason I don't get around as much isn't entirely that I'm admonished to cease and desist. It's on account of trips to the tailor and answering letters asking for dates. When I think of all the social opportunities I've missed and all the tight places I could have squeezed out of easier, I'm inclined to confess living a wasted life.



TRIPP

That waste is pretty well over now and so is another waist—the old 46 inch one. Brother, believe it or not, I'm down to a trim and flexible cross between 40 and 42. I call it flexible because just one of what Hobler calls a square meal, and I call a snack will run me up to 44 and cause Fanny to say I'm overeating again. Overeating my eye! I envy the birds.

Anyway I wouldn't go back. I've got the Massachusetts Institute of Technology working out a chart for me. I want to find out how much jackass power I wasted for 25 years carrying around 30 pounds of none too beautiful excess scenery—mostly bay window.

It's a complicated graph I'm getting. It involves both stresses and torques—because of where the weight was carried. Data so far missing is that to show original weight of overhangs as divided fore and aft, the counter-balancing arrangement. Also they're asking an estimate near as possible, on how much waste and dead weight I'm telling 'em it was damned near all dead weight.

* * *

The purpose of this essay is not to exploit a new-born Adonis. It's to help others who would reduce their wind resistance. There are important steps a beginner should not overlook. Such as a planning and research department.

There's more to it than giving up watermelon for Lent. All the doctor does is advice—and bull. You do the whole thing if it's going to be done. The heck of it is you do exactly what you always knew you should have done but you wouldn't do it until you paid a doc to scare you into it.

* * *

It's the by-products of streamlining which most upset the remodeler. First off you should hold your wife and cook by the throat and explain to them that you're going to need help. Draw up irrevocable articles of agreement that they'll serve all the food at lunch time when you're downtown, lock the leftovers in a strong box, and hide the key. Make 'em starve with you on lean fish, cauliflower and watercress for the big meal at night. This is important if you don't want to go nuts watching them eat.

Next prepare a statement based on sound medical and legal advice. Set forth in detail the causes for and objectives of your fast. Carry a quantity in your pocket for general distribution. They will save you conversation. Also use as stuffers in your mail, particularly letters going to creditors. Creditors get jittery when any kind of collateral shrinks.

* * *

Then go immediately to a tailor or tent maker and make a long term contract based upon a gradual and uncertain per inch and per pound shrinkage. Also insist on delivery dates — and avoid the escalator clause.

Burn all snapshots of clambakes, old banquet menus and any reminder of Coney's, green corn, apple pie and beer kegs.

Read sparingly only the headlines, of famine and starving abroad. Avoid fat people and hearty eaters. Undertakers will begin to honey up to you. Ignore them. Associate with anemics, dyspeptics and scrawny men. They'll bolster your morale.

Baseball for Moscow

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Excellent atmospherics are enabling American residents in Moscow to hear baseball games broadcast direct from the United States. A Los Angeles shortwave station (KCBA) can be heard here very clearly and in considerable volume.

The station broadcasting an Armed Forces Radio Service program offers the news followed by "recreation" broadcasts, play-by-play of big league ball games. Several Americans are setting their alarm clocks and hearing their baseball—perhaps for the first time—direct from the states.

The Once Over

Salesmanship and That "Low Ebb"

Speakers at a national convention of salesmanship executives declared that the sellers' market is over and that salesmanship, now at its lowest ebb must devise new techniques. Lowest ebb is an understatement. Salesmanship, in the eyes of the customer has become not only dead but mummified. In the period of shortages and when customer demand the average salesman has ceased to function, except in the manner of a deep-freeze unit.

It has become an exploit similar to a Polar dash to approach the fellow who was supposed to be interested in selling something.

The customer's greatest need in contacting a salesman has been a proper defrosting equipment.

PHILLIPS

It has been years since we saw a clerk or salesman in many fields smile, register interest or show half of one per cent politeness toward the buyer. We have frequently had our lower extremities frozen on the trip from the store or agency entrance to the salesman's desk.

* * *

The old fashioned American salesman who used to spring to his feet when a customer appeared, extend the glad hand, show a keen desire to be of service and cultivate good will or bust, has largely disappeared.

* * *

We can remember away back when, even if the staff had no stock on hand, it never greeted a customer with that "less than the dust beneath my chariot wheels" manner and when every salesman or clerk realized that there was no percentage in making a customer feel that a visit to a salesroom or store was like a trip through the icepack.

* * *

Too many salesmen today don't even bother to show routine civility. They have developed complete indifference to a high art. They give you the old "This is all so unnecessary and annoying. Look, if you ask more than two questions of ten words each. They give you the definite feeling that you are indulging in a futile dialogue in an Eskimo igloo.

* * *

The other day we went to an auto salesroom back home and found even the head of the company giving an overall demonstration of how to freeze the prospective buyer in three simple lessons. He was on the floor supposedly assisting but and at the moment talking listlessly with a prospect. We drew near and awaited our turn. The gent walked off to a far corner without as much as an "Excuse me, I'll be with you in a moment."

* * *

Up to this time we had assumed that at least the boss knew the fundamental rules of holding customer good will.

* * *

"The easy days of salesmanship are over," said a speaker at the salesmen's convention heretofore mentioned. "We must concentrate on a new technique using movies, recordings, local clubs etc." Hasenpfeffer! Just concentrate on the simple fundamentals of graciousness between one human being and another, boys!

On Gouging

By TRUMAN TWILL

First, let us define the terms, to make perfectly clear the difference between chiseling and gouging.

A chisel is a metal tool with a straight, sharp cutting edge, used to shape and shave wood and stone. Chiseling in the slang sense of the word, is getting a little more than you have coming to you.

A gouge on the other hand does not have a straight cutting edge. It is shaped like a scoop—a sharp one. Gouging in the slang sense of the word is getting a lot more than you have coming to you.

A few years back with the encouragement of politicians who had access to the great sounding board of propaganda known as Washington, D. C., chiseling was condemned in the U. S. A. as an un-American and anti-social practice.

There was a depression going at the time, which meant that so many people had so little money that chiseling became a way of life for the unscrupulous. No one had any use for chiseling the other fellow's chiseling that is.

Chiseling went out of style during the war boom. Gouging came into style. Circumstances were ripe for it. Why use a chisel to shave off a little splinter when a smart operator could carve out a great big chunk with a gouge?

Gouging became a way of life for the unscrupulous. The technique of using the gouge was standardized. First, get the victim over a barrel, then gouge him for all he could stand and a little extra. If the victim happened to be Uncle Sam or the dear dumb public, so much the better—there was more to gouge.

No one had a monopoly on gouging. No one ever has had. Anyone with the right kind of callouses on his conscience in the right places can be a master gouger and consequently there is no shortage of skilled operators. Even the unskilled ones, the amateurs, are in the act and doing fine, thanks.

All of which is all right. It's a free country. But even in a free country not everybody takes advantage of his inalienable right to have callouses on his conscience. There always will be some who retain the ability to distinguish between right and wrong on a moral plane and there always will be some who will continue to be offended by shameless hypocrisy.

What hurts is to hear the gougers themselves complaining when the cruel furrows are dug out of their own backs instead of the backs of the helpless, who are supposed to take it and like it—and come back grinning for another treatment. Let the gougers keep their silly yaps shut when they get gouged. They have sold out their right to complain.

Greetings, gougers, and may there be no mourning at the bar as you rush onward to the next phase of your career, which will be a return to chiseling, when there's nothing left to gouge.

Started in 1917

Public meetings which resulted in the organization of Oakland church were first started on Nov. 25, 1917, under direction of the pastor of Marion Calvary Evangelical church, Rev. W. L. Martin. The first congregational building, now the parsonage, was dedicated June 30, 1918, by Bishop Thomas Bowman. Attendance at the first Sunday school session in the new frame building July 7, 1918, was 151. In March, 1919, a society of 84 members was organized as a class of Calvary church. At the 1919 annual conference session the class was separated from Calvary and was named the Bellefontaine Avenue mission.

The 1923 conference changed the name to Oakland Evangelical church. Enrolled were 72 members at the time Rev. Ruhlman became the first full time pastor in 1919 considered the charter members of the church. Plans for the present brick building were begun on July 18, 1921. Ground was broken March 31, 1923, and the cornerstone was laid July 8 that year. The edifice was dedicated by Bishop S. P. Spreng March 9, 1924. Present membership of the congregation is 407. The twenty-fifth anniversary will be observed in March, 1949.

Wisdom Begetteth Life

A Sermonette

By REV. HERBERT A. HADLEIGH

Pastor of Fifth Memorial Baptist Church

Proverbs 14:16 "A wise man feareth and departeth from evil, but the fool rageth and is confident."

• • •

THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT admonished us by saying, "We have nothing to fear but ourselves." These words came to us at a time when there were men who would do us injury by preying upon our American shores.

Perhaps the true import of these words came to us with the greatest force when on the morning of August 6, 1945 the western and eastern world both awoke and turning to the morning newspapers for the latest news on the war they were astonished, actually stunned even in this day of frequent and great surprises, to read that a bomb had been developed and used for the first time the day before, containing power equal to 40,000,000 pounds of T N T. When we read of smoke clouds almost instantly rising up 60,000 feet above the city and sheets of flame shooting up four and five miles into the sky the light so bright that the sunlight was eclipsed, and some 130,000 humans were killed certainly we do have cause to fear ourselves.

Recently in one of our national newspapers there appeared an article which was titled "A Mother's Confession." Said the article—A 37 year old mother placed an ad in the paper a few days ago offering her body for medical experiment, or anything authorized by law to raise money for attorney fees, to save her son from prison.

The mother says "I mean it. I failed him as a mother and I am afraid I can't help him now." Between sobs the mother told a story that placed the blame upon herself for the condition of her son. At one time she was a barber and she has worked since she separated from her husband several years ago. Another broken home! What a story it tells! Approximately 80 per cent of the criminals of this country come from broken homes.

The mother says, "I was always crazy about my boy. I never made him mind. I never had him in a Sunday school class in all my life."

What a confession! —— poor boy, poor mother—— ! He was never in a Sunday school class in his life. Church bells rang, but he never heard them. Teachers taught their classes but he was not included. The minister presented his sermon, but this boy was not there to hear the message. He is now soon to be placed among a million others, incarcerated within prison walls.

A carousing, shiftless parent is the curse of the rising generation. A non-church going parent is paving the way for a sad ride to the brothel and penitentiary for the children entrusted to his care. What a responsibility it is to be a parent!

The Bible encourages us. "The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom." "It was Jesus who said, 'Fear not them which kill the body but are not able to kill the soul but rather fear him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.'"

The first of the ten commandments expresses a love and a devotion to God which is not surpassed by the interests of this life. Let us then turn ourselves over to Him unreservedly so that we may understand the full significance of the words as recorded by the Apostle John:

'Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God.

'And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.

"Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment, because as He is, so are we in this world.

"There is no fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

Flagstone Path at Low Cost

Thousands of the small houses being built throughout the country are minimum-cost dwellings where nothing save the real essentials are provided. Landscaping and all other outdoor decoration must be provided by the owners.

The majority of people prefer a flagstone walk or path to the straight cement sidewalk, but at the present time, fair flags or slate run as high as twenty-nine cents a square foot unlaid. There is an excellent substitute, not easily detected, in making your own flagstone path. The only requirements are a sharp square-edged spade and a bag of cement, plus some sand and gravel.

The first step is to lay out the location of your path, and then cut into the turf with the spade so as to lift out flag-shaped sections. As a rule these run in irregular shapes.

When the correct number of shapes have been taken up, you make a fairly dry mix of one part of cement, two part of sand, and three parts of gravel and fill the depressions to the top. They should be troweled off smooth, covered with wet burlap or cloths, and left alone for five or six days. After that period the concrete will have had its initial set, and it will be safe to walk on them.

As a further refinement, you can buy a can of gray or slate-colored cement paint, and another of dark red slate color, and stain the flags to suit your own taste.

Small outdoor terraces, platforms at the foot of a stair, can be made easily and economically by this method.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. REES
Ohio State University
Extension Floriculturist

Q: We took your previous advice about planting a double flowering peach tree and it has grown to be a beautiful little tree. We want to keep it within certain bounds and we wonder if now is the correct time to prune it. It is finished blooming and is forming small peaches now. This is a grafted tree and we want to know if it is possible to start any new ones by taking pieces of these prunings and rooting them. Would we end up with a flowering tree or some what-not?

A: You can prune your peach tree anytime, but you must remember that unless you have plenty of new growth you will have but few flowers next year.

I am afraid you will be disappointed in trying to propagate your double flowered peach since it is necessary to bud peaches onto seedlings in order to propagate them. If you are interested I would suggest you secure a book on plant propagation from your local library and follow the instructions. But first you will have to grow some seedling peaches to bud next summer.

Q: Should a Bridal Wreath bush (Spirea Van Houtte) be pruned every season? Is this procedure imperative, or would it be all right to let it just go on and grow as large as possible? We have one in bloom now which is large and beautiful and about all we know about pruning is that this must be done after the plant has finished blooming, that is if it should be trimmed at all.

A: Firstly, may I correct an idea. Bridal Wreath is entirely different from the Van Houtte spirea. Most folks have the Van Houtte spirea. It has clusters of single flowers whereas the Bridal Wreath is usually seen only in the double flowered form and has the little white button-like flowers a quarter-inch in diameter. The true Bridal Wreath blooms considerably earlier than the Van Houtte spirea. The Bridal Wreath has a shiny leaf that turns an orange-red in the fall.

Next, I would like to suggest instead of having the nuisance of pruning your Van Houtte spirea every spring that this fall you dig it out and plant it someplace where you want a tall growing shrub. Its beauty is in its long arching branches. I would then replace it with some dwarf shrub that would never need pruning in order to see out from your porch or windows. I would suggest the Garland spirea, the Froebel spirea, Anthony Waterer spirea, Lemoine deutzia, slender deutzia, single flowered yellow kerria or some other dwarf shrub in its place.

If you still feel you want to keep the Van Houtte and it is always going to be a nuisance then I would prune it as soon as it has finished blooming.

Q: I am sending you a specimen of one of my peony stocks. I am wondering what is wrong with it. It was growing beautifully and all at once started looking as if it might be frost bitten. Will this spread to my other peony plants?

A: Although the specimen of peony you sent was pretty well shriveled by the time I saw it, I am wondering if it is not frost damage. The peony would have been up when many of the other plants would not have been. Although there is a peony blight it seldom attacks the new growth to the extent that yours was damaged. Even if it were the peony blight it would be specific on the peony and would attack no other plants except peonies.

You can give a certain amount of protection against peony blight by dusting with fermate. Since fermate itself is rather difficult to obtain, I would suggest that you go to your local farm bureau and buy farm bureau dust No. 12. It is an all purpose dust which contains fermate.

* * *

Q: I have a dogwood tree about eight years old which has not bloomed and I hope you can suggest something I can do to cause it to bloom.

A: There is a slight possibility that if you fertilize your flowering dogwood with a complete commercial fertilizer such as you can buy from the hardware store under a trade name and give it a 2-inch mulch of chopped cornstalks, peat moss, and either fresh or rotted barnyard manure it may help it produce flower buds for next year. I would use a half pound of fertilizer scattered over an area about 3x3 feet.

Black Spots on Window Frames

Q. We built a home this past year and couldn't get a paint dealer for all the fine points. The white woodwork in the bathroom and kitchen there are black spots on the window frames. We sand them after they are dry remove this and paint. We want to varnish them if we can get out the stain.

A. Try sanding and scraping a bit more of the wood away. Then the stain may be gone entirely to be taken out in this way: bleach them out with oxalic acid crystals (poison) dissolved in denatured alcohol as much as the alcohol can absorb. Or use hot water instead of the alcohol, although the latter probably will work better. Let this stand all night on the surface, then rinse off thoroughly next morning with a wet cloth. Finish with two coats of clear, quick-drying varnish. As the acid will bleach the wood you may wish to touch up the woodwork with an oil stain of the color you prefer. This should be [illegible]

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"The original Cheshire cat had nothing on you," Mary said, as I hung up the receiver. "I'll bet the lady maitre d'hotel made a wisecrack. Aren't you going to let us in on it, or do I have to get tough, and ask you what you're grinning at?"

"Mary, Mary!" Olga murmured, but as the murmur was infused with laughter, her stepdaughter-in-law did not even look reproved.

"You'll have to be stemer than that with me, Mother," Mary said, "to make me mend my ways, or, rather, my speech."

"Why quandy your statement?" I asked. "And I can tell Olga from experience that nothing but your Uncle Dicky's often threatened remedy of a hickory stick ever makes the slightest impression on you."

"You're dodging the question," Mary said sternly. "Now I'm fixing you with a 'glittering eye'—watch it glitter—and you come clean. If you don't like the profanity, I'll say it nicely. What is tickling the auntie's risibles?"

"Perhaps," Olina suggested slyly, "if you'd shut up, Mary, and give her a chance to open her mouth, she'd tell us about it."

"She's already opened it plenty, about me," Mary reminded her grimly. "But I'm mum from now on. Give, Auntie Madge! What did the lady say?"

"Simply that she could manage the dinner I'd ordered, if my guests could," I answered, and, being in the mood for laughter at anything, all three of my auditors loosened the reins on their mirth.

"She's a wise dame," Mary commented when she had finished giggling — she's still a school girl in her laughter—"I'm not going to eat a mouthful of lunch; not a bite until eight o'clock. Perhaps a sip of water."

"Katharine will attend to you," I told her maliciously.

"You brought Faith's dress I see," Olga said, gesturing to the bundle which I had set down when I talked to Dicky over the telephone.

"Yes," I answered, "but I don't want to stop to undo it until I've gratified my eyes by looking at you and Mary. You must have hurried, to get into those dresses while I was gone."

"We did," Olga answered. "Do you like them?"

"Foolish question, number a trillion and something," I told her, smiling. "Mary you're almost as beautiful a picture as is Olina, while Olga—I haven't words — I know now how you must have looked in your coronation robes."

"I was much younger, then," Olga said.

"But not more beautiful," I said sincerely, for there was mellow majesty in her face which was more fascinating to a thinking person than the unlined surface beauty of youth.

"Dad will go ga-ga when he sees you in that gown," Mary predicted.

"Oh! I must get it off before he comes back," Olga said, patently flurried. "There are several changes which must be made. The gown is too big for me, not much, but still enough to require alterations."

"Will you trust me to be your modiste?" I asked her, smiling.

"I'll vouch for her," Mary said. "As I told you, she swings a mean needle."

"I shall be most grateful for your help, my dear Madge," Olga said. "You'll find pins in a box on my dresser. Suppose we all go back to the library for the fittings."

"I'll carry your train, Lina," Mary volunteered, "if you'll see to Faith's gown, Aunt Madge."

"I'll bring both of them," I said, and in another minute the court gowns and three of their prospective wearers were standing in the Veritzen library.

LIVING COSTS REACH RECORD PRICE LEVEL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—The cost-of-living index struck an all-time high on June 15, with food prices reaching record-shattering levels the bureau of labor statistics reported yesterday.

The index representing retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate income families in large cities, hit 171.7 per cent of the 1935-1939 average.

As the record-smashing living cost figures were disclosed, President Truman drove ahead with preparation of recommendations he will make to congress Tuesday for dealing with inflation and rising prices.

The White House announced Mr. Truman's appointment of Paul A. Porter as a special assistant to the President to help with preparation of anti-inflation legislation.

Porter, the last chief of the wartime Office of Price Administration, will serve on a temporary, non-salaried basis. The White House said his job will be to coordinate information to be given congress in behalf of the anti-inflation bill being drafted.

The BLS index on living costs, covering the period up to June 15 usually runs about five weeks behind the current price levels. It takes this much time to assemble price data and measure the impact on the family budget.

The Keener pike project (CR-100), calls for 2.788 miles of grading, drainage facilities and paving with bituminous road mix on waterbound macadam. Section to be done is in Marion and Big Island townships and is to be completed by Nov. 30.

The route 529 project includes construction of a continuous steel beam bridge with concrete deck and superstructure over Grave creek and a second bridge, of concrete slab type over Riffle creek. Total distance of road to be constructed is .89 mile. Completion date is set for Aug. 31.

ASSERT LAWMAKERS DELAY LEGISLATION

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, July 24—Signing of the five bills passed in a ten-hour special session of the legislature had to be postponed until Monday night.

Absence of senate leaders at yesterday's scheduled skeleton session made it impossible for the lawmakers technically to finish their work Both house and senate then postponed the sine die adjournment session until Monday afternoon, when the bills will be signed and sent to the governor

Two measures reducing the sales and use tax by eliminating the one-cent tax on purchases under 41 cents, will not be signed by Governor Herbert until midnight next Saturday so they will become effective Aug 1

Gov Herbert meanwhile showed obvious pleasure at the way the work was expedited in the smoothly-functioning general assembly

He smilingly reviewed its accomplishments and pointed out that Ohio is the only state in the nation to reduce a tax of long standing in the past year The sales tax has been in effect since 1934.

The legislature also increased maximum old age and blind pensions from $50 to $55 a month and appropriated $6 350 000 to the welfare department

The money is to be used as follows three million to increase the state's matching share of poor relief payments from 29 to 50 per cent $1,850,000 to provide for the $5 monthly increase in old age pensions to the state's 125 000 pensioners. $1,200,000 for increased cost of food in the state s 27 institutions for the remainder of the year and $300 000 for increased cost of institutional coal

Gov Herbert pointed out also that Ohio also has levied no new taxes although 21 other states have done so Twenty-eight states he said, have increased existing taxes

BALANCE YOUR GRAIN FOR EXTRA EGGS

Yes, it takes so little Purina Chowder to turn your grain into a scientifically balanced egg maker. You'll see the difference in egg production . . . a difference in your birds. That's because Chowder supplies what your grain lacks to do a job in the hen house. You'll be pleased, too, to learn how little it costs to get more eggs from your grain the Purina way!

LET US GRIND YOUR GRAIN and Balance it with PURINA CHOWDER

Bring in your grain. We have accurate grinding and mixing equipment. Our formulas are Purina Approved. We have one to fit your grain. Takes only 100 lbs. of Chowder to each 400 lbs. of grain.

WE ALSO HAVE THESE EGG-MAKING GRAIN BALANCERS

PURINA LAY CHOW

A supplement for scratch grain. Feed half and half with grain for lots of eggs. An economical ration that gets results.

PURINA EGG CHOW

No grinding or mixing. Just put grain and Egg Chow in separate hoppers. Birds eat about 3 times as much grain as Egg Chow.

Bucyrus Trot to Feature Final Harness Racing Program Tonight

Rhea Hanover Wins Both Heats Of Wooster Stake with Shillings Up

By GEORGE SCOTT

Tonight the Bucyrus Trophy race will climax the 10th and last racing program of the Marion club's harness racing meeting that has had plenty of thrills, large crowds, and good weather since it opened July 5. In contrast to last year's "the rains came" edition, only two nights have had to be postponed because of weather in this meeting.

By winning both dashes of the Wooster Stake Trophy race for a purse of $1,500 at the fairgrounds last night, Slim Shilling erased all doubts that he was injured in his Thursday night spill.

The lanky Shilling drove Rhea Hanover, just back from Grand Circuit racing, to wins in two of the most thrilling contests of the night before a crowd of 4,000 who filled the stands and lined the rail.

Rhea Hanover jumped into an early lead in the fifth race 2:15 class pace for a mile but it was far from an easy victory for the six-year-old bay mare. The field of five horses were tightly bunched going into the home stretch and the flying Rhea Hanover had a tough run before winning in the excellent time of 2:08.

Wins by Nose

The seventh contest Rhea Hanover crossed the finish line a nose ahead of Buckeye Bob and no more. Shilling was in front all the way in the long mile and sixteenth but Buckeye Bob was going into the lead at the finish.

Preston Hinebaugh of the Ohio state racing commission, subbing in the absence of the mayor of Wooster, presented the silver Wooster trophy to Charles G. Munn of Jackson, Mich., owner of Rhea Hanover.

"I love to race at Marion and Mr. Shilling drove a beautiful race for me," said Mr. Munn when he was presented the plaque.

Coming from behind both times, Minnie Volo with Don Stokes driving took the sixth and eighth dashes to become the night's second double-victor. The five-year-old bay mare, owned by Paul Jones and Robert Gunkleman of Medina, looked impressive as she turned on the speed in both contests. Neither race was close. It was the third straight win for Minnie Volo at the Marion track. In her only other race she did not finish.

They don't come any closer than the finish of the third race last night. Belwin Bunter, driven by Lou Huber Jr., and Baldy H., driven by Russ Wickersham, crossed the wire neck and neck and it took the judges several minutes to decide upon the winner after they had received the photo. Baldy H. was declared the victor by what looked like little more than perspiration on the gelding's nose.

Both horses came through with their second wins of the Marion meeting as Ben Ash led all the way to take the ninth race and Minnie Astra came from behind on the rail to win the second.

Fast Track

The track was fast and seemed to improved by the recent rains. Four winners Minnie Astra in the second race and Baldy H. in the third the daily double paid $30.20.

By the double-win last night Slim Shilling pulled into a second place tie with Scotty Welch in firsts brought home. Each driver now has seven. Jimmy Wingfield is still on top with nine.

A $2,000 purse will lure a fast field of nine horses, many former winners in the Marion meet, to the post tonight for the Bucyrus Trophy race. The 16 class trot will be run in two dashes, the fifth for a mile and the seventh for the long pull of a mile and sixteenth. The nine-race program tonight will write finis to the 1948 harness racing season in Marion.

BETTER PITCHING MAKES BOSOX BOUGH

Boston Now in Position To Take League Lead.

By The Associated Press

Now that Joe McCarthy has found some pitching, the Boston Red Sox look like the roughest club in the American league.

It used to be an occasion for a 24-gun salute when a Sox hurler went the route. Now they go nine innings almost every day.

Ted Williams, who missed 18 games due to a torn rib cartilage, returned to the lineup yesterday and immediately made known his presence. He collected two hits, including a double with the bases full, to back up Mickey Harris' five-hit job on Chicago for a rollicking 13-1 romp.

This cleared the stage for the most important series of the year at Fenway Park as Cleveland comes in for a doubleheader today and a single tomorrow. It's possible for the Red Sox to take over first place before Monday's open date.

Indians Rained Out

The Indians, buffeted by the Yanks in New York where they dropped two of three were rained out of yesterday's scheduled Stadium finale. Consequently they got to Boston with a half game lead on Philadelphia and 1½ over the Sox.

Rain helped the Athletics last night. They were trailing the St. Louis Browns 0-0 in the third inning when the game had to be postponed because of wet grounds and rain.

Detroit had a big inning at Washington, scoring seven in the fourth to blast the Senators, 11-5. A triple by Pat Mullin doubles by Jimmy Outlaw and George Kell and singles by Bob Swift, Johnny Lipon and Vic Wertz highlighted the attack that knocked out Mickey Haefner with his ninth loss.

The National league battle tightened a bit as Brooklyn knocked off Pittsburgh 4-3, while the Boston Braves were losing to St. Louis 7-5. As a result the Braves lead was clipped to 5½ games.

Erv Palica relieved by Hank Behrman in the eighth assured the Brooks of their eighth victory in 10 starts since Burt Shotton replaced Leo Durocher as manager.

Cards Clout Sain

The Cardinals knocked out Johnny Sain Boston's top winner in a four-run third inning. They continued to blast Nels Potter for a total of 15 hits, including three each by Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Del Rice. Rookie Al Dark accounted for four of the 12 hits off Al Braze.

Larry Jansen notched win No. 13, a fine five-hit shutout for New York over Chicago, 5-0. Johnny Mize's 23rd homer off Russ Meyer with Billy Rigney on base in the first started Jansen on his way. It was Mize's 280th homer in the majors.

The Philadelphia Phils made a triple play in the fourth inning of their 6-1 victory over Cincinnati. Robin Roberts hurled steady eight-hit ball for his fourth big league success. Howie Fox was the loser.

TRIPLE PLAY AIDS PHILS BEAT REDS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 24 — The seventh place Cincinnati Reds and the sixth place Philadelphia Phils squared off today for the second clash of their four-game series here.

A triple-play, as the Phils played heads-up ball yesterday, snapped the only Red threat and the Phillies won, 6-1, behind the eight-hit hurling of rookie Robin Roberts.

The triple-play fifth this season in the majors, came in the fourth. Big Ted Kluszewski started the inning with a walk, and Danny Litwhiler followed with a single. Virgil Stallcup then slammed a line drive to third baseman "Putsy" Caballero Caballero snapped the ball to Granville Hamner at second doubling Kluszewski off the bag and Hamner threw quickly to Dick Sisler at first, catching Litwhiler off base.

The Phils' attack was aimed at pitcher Howard Fox who was touched for nine hits in the seven innings he worked. Kent Peterson, who came in for relief, fared even worse. He was combed for five hits in two innings.

The lone Red run came after Kluszewski got a double when Ritchie Ashburn of the Phils fell while attempting to field the ball. Kluszewski scored on Stallcup's single to center.

Prospect Defeats Budd's Sport Shop

PROSPECT July 24—Prospect continued their winning ways on the home diamond by defeating Budd's Sports Shop of Upper Sandusky, 5-4 here last night.

Singles by Oehler, Lauer Landon and Rider and Bumgartner's double scored four runs for Prospect in the first inning and the winning run scored in the third on a walk, hit batter, single, and Gelder's choice.

Chester and Dunman led the Budd's hitting. Two Prospect double plays got pitcher Hoover out of tight spots.

Marion Cubs Beat Newark in Doubleheader 2-1 and 6-5

Nick Alivojvodic, Swede Bensen, Pitch Bruins To Double Victories

By BILL DIEHM

Marion's Cubs, winners last night of their first doubleheader in a longer time than the fans care to think about, meet the Lima Terriers in a three-game series which starts tonight at Lima.

The double victory over Newark at Lincoln park last night put hope in optimistic Marionites that perhaps the Bruins were not doomed to end in the cellar after all and might even start a climb that would land them in the Ohio-Indiana league's first division.

And there's no team the Cubs have better luck in gobbling up on a winning drive than the Terriers, whom they have beaten six times in nine games.

Some more pitching like that Nick Alivojvodic displayed in the first game last night and Swede Bensen in the second and the Marion optimism could easily become reality.

Big Nick won his 13th game in the seven-inning opener—the victor in a pitching duel with Newark's southpaw Martin Kossover. Both gave up six hits.

Whirls 130th Batter

The Cubs' fastballer, who has added a curve and a sidearm crossfire to his pitching repertoire, ran his strikeout total to an even 130 by whiffing eight Yankees. He also followed Pete Schnepf's walk in the fifth inning with a timely single to right field and subsequently scored the winning run. Pete Neukirch followed Nick with a single that filled the sacks. Johnny Juhasz walked to force in the tying run and Nick scored when Stan King hit into a force-out at second.

Newark's single marker came in the fourth when the Yanks reached Nick for four straight hits. Clean fielding behind him limited those four singles to one run's worth of damage, particularly Stan King's peg home from left field that nipped a Yank at the plate.

Swede Bensen, hailed as a high shot relief hurler by Manager Frank Kriston, who brought him down from his old Janesville, Wis., ball club Thursday, turned in a brilliant job in his first assignment.

He relieved Jim Edgar with the score tied at four-all in the sixth and baffled the Yanks with a lusty curve, no little steam, and a deceptive crossfire save for one pitch in the eighth inning which Newark catcher Phil Trapani met coming down the middle and sent over the right field wall for a one-run homer. He struck out five in the three and two-thirds innings he worked.

Cubs Fight Back

The Cubs, who had seen Newark take a 3-1 lead fought back in the fifth for three. Edgar walked, Stan King doubled, and Gene Bobseen smashed his fifth homer over the left field wall to put the Cubs out front.

Then Newark chased Edgar when Bob Ogle and Trapani doubled to tie up the game.

An error, a walk and Gene Bobseen's single put the Cubs ahead again in the seventh and after Trapani had tied it again with his homer in the eighth Pete Neukirch tripled to right field scoring Lee Bohlender with the winning marker.

Bensen retired the Yankees in order in the ninth.

Catcher Tom Gatts, the hustler of the ball club, picked one Yank off second base and threw two of them out trying to steal.

BREWERS NIP SAINTS, MAINTAIN AA LEAD

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Brewers, after a long and successful home stand, kept up their winning ways last night as they opened a series at St. Paul with a victory to maintain their one-half game lead in the American Association.

The Brewers, behind the six-hit pitching of Al Epperly, humbled the fourth-place Saints 7 to 3 as Indianapolis kept pace with a 6 to 1 victory over Toledo.

The win was the 12th of the season for Epperly as against two defeats, the league's best mark. The Brews got only seven hits off two St. Paul hurlers but they made them all count.

The Indians kept up their record of not losing a game at Toledo this season in their opener with the Mud Hens last night. Bob Malloy, who posted his 14th win, never was in trouble.

Minneapolis rallied in the ninth inning for two runs to beat Kansas City 10 to 9 after the Blues came from behind, 8 to 1, to lead 9 to 8 in the top half of the last inning.

Columbus and Louisville were not scheduled.
